TABLE OF CONTENTS

Through the good days and those days that may be more difficult, I believe that within the USA Swimming "Family" there are two constants ... a continual striving for excellence ... and an enormous passion and joy for our sport. Whether as athletes, parents, coaches, volunteers, staff, sponsors, friends, supporters or fans ... everyone shares these traits and this is why USA Swimming will always keep growing and getting better.

We all have our favorite individual holidays, but it's hard to be an American and not find sincere joy in the 4th of July and Thanksgiving. These holidays provide us with the chance to take some time off and to celebrate our country's heritage, spend time with friends and family, and look to the future with greater optimism.

As we begin the holiday weekend, I want to personally thank those many people who continue to work so hard on behalf of our sport and our organization. I also urge you to take a few minutes to view this short video that the USOC has produced ... I think you'll find it a pretty nice way to begin your weekend, and I would certainly encourage you to share it with your own friends and family members.

Best wishes to each of you for a wonderful July 4th weekend!
